DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 10-16 are not limited to statutory embodiments. In view of Applicant's disclosure, on page 21, claim 10, the machine-readable medium is not limited to statutory embodiments, instead being defined as including both statutory embodiments (e.g., recordable/non-recordable media) and non-statutory embodiments (e.g., propagated signals (e.g., carrier waves...)). As such, the claim is not limited to statutory subject matter and is therefore non-statutory.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-9, 17-22 are allowed.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The primary reason for the allowance of claims 1-9 is the inclusion of the limitation "the faulty portion having stored a system software component in a system software memory region of memory; and relocating the system software component from the fault portion of memory to a safe portion of memory". The primary reason for the allowance of claims 17-22 is the inclusion of the limitation "the fault portion of the memory device having stored a system software component for the computer system; relocating the system software component from the faulty portion to a safe portion of the memory device during operating system runtime."
